Well, for the first time ever, the winners of the world's top beauty pageants are all black women. That's Miss Teen USA, Miss USA, Miss America, and Miss Universe. Hope I didn't miss one there. The latest is Miss World. It was awarded to Jamaica's Toni-Ann Singh on Saturday in London. She tweeted that the crown belongs to "all the girls around the world," adding that all of them "have a purpose."
